The University of Pannonia is announcing a call for applications for participation in the staff teaching mobility program within the framework of the Pannonia Scholarship Program for the academic year 2026/2027. This program is part of the higher education scholarship program established by the Ministry of Culture and Innovation. The call is open to staff members who wish to apply for an international mobility scholarship within the Pannonia Program for the 2026/2027 academic year. In this application period, mobility may begin no earlier than the first semester of the 2026/2027 academic year.

- Mobility for teaching purposes for lecturers from higher education institutions to partner institutions abroad, as well as mobility for experts from foreign enterprises to Hungarian higher education institutions for teaching purposes.
- Exchange and expansion of expertise and experience.
- Enrichment of the offerings and content of training programs.

Eligible Activities:

- Staff Teaching mobility (2-60 days)

Eligibility Criteria:

Applicants must:

- Hold Hungarian citizenship or have a valid residence or settlement permit in Hungary.
- Be an employee of the University of Pannonia (holding a valid employment contract).
- Be professionally prepared and possess the required language proficiency.

Required Documents for Application:

- Mobility application form, including the supplementary financial form.
- Mobility Agreement signed by the participant, the Pannonia coordinator of the home institution, and the host institution.

- Curriculum Vitae in English (and in the language of the host institution, if required).
- Letter of Acceptance from the host institution.
- Managerial support document (justification of professional relevance).
- Group Travel Form (in case of group travel).
- Pannonia Coordinator Declaration. Before submission, the faculty coordinator must review the mobility documents

Conditions for Contract Signing:

- A Mobility Agreement signed by all three parties (staff member, sending institution, host institution).
- Letter of Acceptance from the host institution.
- Travel insurance covering the mobility period.
- Travel declaration.

Applications can be submitted for any foreign higher education institution and institutions with which the University of Pannonia has a valid agreement. The list of partner institutions is available on our website and is continuously updated.

Applicants are required to complete the application materials electronically and upload the compressed files (zip or rar format) to the electronic application platform on the website. The application form must be completed online.

General Information

1. Eligible Activities

- Staff Teaching mobility (2-60 days)

Staff Teaching mobility includes outbound staff mobility for educational purposes based on inter-institutional agreements, with a minimum duration of 2 days and a maximum of 60 days.

In the case of teaching mobility at a foreign higher education partner institution, the staff member may carry out teaching activities at the partner institution in any field of study. The teaching activity must include at least 8 hours of teaching per week (or in the case of shorter stays, at least 8 hours for the entire period). If the mobility lasts longer than one week, the minimum required teaching hours for the additional days must be proportional to the duration of the given week.

Teaching mobility may also include active participation in conferences, provided that the participation contributes to the professional content or organization of the conference. This may involve giving a lecture or conducting a workshop as part of the conference program. In cases where teaching mobility is realized solely through active conference participation, the minimum teaching hour requirement does not apply. The duration of active conference participation is counted as part of the teaching activity. Mere attendance at a conference as a participant is not eligible for support.

The planned activity, including conference participation, must be documented in the mobility agreement, and a report must confirm the fulfillment of the planned activities.
