2026/2027

Application Deadline:

Please submit your application no later than 60 days before the planned departure.
Applications can be submitted continuously; there is no technical deadline!

Where to Submit the Application:

Via the online application platform on the website.

The University of Pannonia announces the Pannonia Scholarship Programme for the 2026/2027 academic year within the framework of the higher education scholarship program established by the Ministry of Culture and Innovation, for students wishing to participate in a student mobility program. This scholarship is intended for those who plan to apply for a mobility grant for foreign studies in the spring semester of the 2026/2027 academic year as part of the Pannonia Program. In this application cycle, partial studies can begin before the first semester of 2026/2027.

Under the Pannonia Scholarship Program, students are entitled to a 12-month mobility period for foreign studies, depending on their level of education: bachelor's, master's, undivided, or doctoral programs.

- Short-term student mobility (2-30 days)
  - e.g., active participation in conferences, attending summer universities, participating in training programs

The same student can participate in a mobility period of up to 12 months in total per study cycle, regardless of the number or type of mobility activities. Students who have previously received an Erasmus+ scholarship may also submit an application.

Eligibility Criteria:

Applicants must:

- Be a Hungarian citizen or hold a valid residence permit for Hungary,
- Be a registered student of the University of Pannonia,
- Be enrolled as an active student during the applied period,
- Be enrolled in a bachelor's, master's, undivided, or doctoral program,
- Be studying on a full-time or part-time basis at the sending institution,
- Have completed at least one semester of study in their bachelor's program before the start of the mobility, or be in the first semester of study in master's or doctoral programs,

- Be professionally prepared and possess the required language proficiency.

Required Documents for Application:

- Hungarian-language study mobility application form, including the supplementary bank form,
- Learning Agreement signed by the institutional/departmental coordinator,
- English CV and motivation letter (+ in the language of the foreign internship, if applicable),
- Official transcript of the last completed semester, printed from the NEPTUN system and verified by the Directorate of Academic Affairs,
- Copy of a state-recognized language exam certificate or other language proficiency documents,
- Professional reference (recommendation letter from the relevant field's instructor),
- Achievements, awards, rankings (optional),
- Certificate for regular professional, community, cultural, or sports activities (optional),
- List of previous professional internships, study trips, or scholarships abroad.

Contract Signing Conditions:

- Learning Agreement signed by all three parties (student, sending institution, receiving institution),
- Letter of Acceptance from the receiving institution
- Travel insurance covering the mobility period.

Applications can only be submitted for foreign higher education institutions with which the University of Pannonia has a valid agreement. The list of partner institutions can be accessed on our website. This list is continuously expanding.

Each foreign study period must be part of a program leading to a degree within any study cycle. The application materials should be submitted electronically, completed and compressed (zip. or rar. format) via the online platform, and the application form must be filled out.

General Information

1. Supported Activities

- Short-term student mobility (2-30 days)
  - Active participation in conferences, summer universities, or intensive courses.
  - At least one completed semester for bachelor's and integrated programs.
  - Master's and doctoral students may apply from their first semester.

Short-term student mobility programs are study-focused, inter-institutional agreements-based student mobilities aimed at earning credits, directed toward selected countries, with a duration of a minimum of 2 days and a maximum of 30 days.

Short-term student mobility programs may also include participation in conferences (or professional events, academic competitions), provided that the participation involves an active contribution to the professional content or organization of the conference. This means that the student participating in mobility, for example, gives a presentation or conducts a workshop within the framework of the conference. Furthermore, the activity must be relevant to the student's studies, providing useful and applicable knowledge that contributes to academic progress. The activities carried out must also be eligible for recognition as part of the student's academic program. Attendance as a passive participant at conferences is not supported. The expectations related to conference participation, as well as its recognition within the academic structure or curriculum, must be documented in the mobility agreement.

Study mobility programs can be implemented in any field of study and at any academic cycle, including doctoral studies. The study period abroad must be an integral part of the student's academic program at any level of study. Sending institutions are required to recognize and fully integrate the mobility period into their curriculum. The process of credit recognition must be documented in the mobility agreement of the student participating in the mobility program.

If applied, the required supporting documents must include travel documents verifying the travel dates.

The Pannonia Scholarship Program transfers funds in Hungarian Forints after the grant agreement is signed.

The support provided to participants contributes to the additional costs of staying abroad, but it may not cover all expenses.

4. Documents Confirming Participation and Fulfillment of the Mobility Goal

The following documents confirm participation in the mobility activity, its actual duration, and the fulfillment of the mobility goals:

Long-term student mobilities:

- Transcript of records - Required for courses carrying credit value (e.g., intensive courses or summer universities)
- Certificate of Participation/Attendance - For study activities that do not directly result in credit acquisition, issued by the host institution/organization (e.g., a document verifying active participation in a conference)
- Letter of confirmation/Attendance - To verify the duration of the mobility,
- Student report

5. Evaluation of Submitted Applications:

The evaluation of the submitted applications will be carried out by the International Mobility Department, involving the faculty mobility coordinators for the applicants from each faculty, taking into account the evaluation criteria of each faculty and available resources.

The applicant will be notified by email about the acceptance or rejection of their application.

We wish you successful applications!
